

United States Senate

March 8, 2023

March Tessier-Lavigne
President
Stanford University
Office of the President
Building 10
Stanford, California 94305-2061

Jenny S. Martinez
Dean of Stanford Law School
Stanford University
Room N303, Neukom Building
Stanford, California 94305-2061

President Tessier-Lavigne,

I write to you today about two of your law school professors, Professor Joseph Bankman and Professor Barbara Fried, and their involvement with the cryptocurrency exchange FTX and its related entities.

Please send to me a copy of the written policies of Stanford Law School and Stanford University for involvement of faculty members in non-university extracurricular activities, including, but not limited to, involvement in for-profit activities. If periodic reports or disclosures by faculty members are required by your policies, please send me a copy of any such documents filed by Professor Bankman or Professor Fried. Also, please send me a copy of any reports, analyses or documents that the university or the law school have prepared about the involvement of Professor Bankman or Professor Fried with FTX or its related entities.

Thank you for your assistance in this request.

Sincerely,

John Kennedy
United States Senator

Roger Marshall, M.D.
United States Senator